

Ode to the North Court Plinth (1910 – 2016)

O North court plinth, how bright my days,
When you were standing strong and proud.

Symbol of strength amongst decay:

You were divine. Your slave, I bowed.

Now all in ruin, your life but brief,

E'en periodicals can't console.

I'm marked out for pain and grief;

With you, O plinth, I've lost my soul.

6 things MUSAB SHAMEKH is sick and tired of hearing

by Jake Reynolds

According to Musab, some people are literally the worst. He is sick and tired of hearing the same thing over and over again like a melody in my head that I can't keep out got me singin' like na na na na everyday its like my iPod's stuck on replay replay-ay-ay-ay.

6 of Musab's pet peeves:

1] "Musab, are you going to hall?"
....DUH!

2] "Musab, hey - you go to Emmanuel right?!"
Um. Yeah. Thanks, never heard that one before.

3] "Musab, its 7:30pm"
Thanks - OBVIOUS POLICE!!!!!!

4] "Musab?"
eurgh - WHAT!?!?!!!!!

5] "Musab, do you mind just, like, budging up a little, there's no space on the bench."
Umm, do you mind just, like, shutting the hell up?

6] "I'll have a pint of Carlsberg please, Musab"
who caaarrrrrrrrrres

So, next time you talk to Musab - don't.

Interview with the Lion on the Crest

Hi there, so first off, bit of an obvious one, but what is your actual name? Is it Leo?

Wow that's hilarious. It's Jonathan.

Excellent, well thanks for letting us interview you

Jonathan.

Not at all.

Now there's an old rumour in college that you're an alumni of Emmanuel yourself! But that's ridiculous, of course – you are a lion after all!

Yes, that is ridiculous! I was at John's.

Oh, right. Erm, well, what did you read?

Mate, I wasn't one of those freaks who actually does the reading.

No I meant as in, what did you study? You're a lion so, I'm sure I can guess – was it VetMed?

No, I did HSPS.

Right, yes. And how did it come about that you were made into the logo?

After I graduated I decided I wanted to travel (as I hadn't taken a gap year) so I went to stay with a wealthy uncle of mine called Cecil, who sadly recently died, at his family seat in South Africa. Very nice digs - plenty of rooms. I went out one night drinking with a few pals and bumped into this guy Walter Mildmay who was a total legend and said he was planning on starting up a college at Cambridge. He asked whether I would pose for the crest and I did. I started off looking earnest, but as a joke for the final one we decided to camp it up, and that's the one he used.

Wow, that's amazing. And what are you up to now in your retirement?

I operate a punting company and take tourists out on weekends. I can be seen every Thursday night in Formal Hall. Occasionally I man the Porter's Lodge if there are staff shortages.

A SOBER CHAMPION

In an age of decadence and immorality, one man stands strong against the tide of hedonism, battles bravely against the onslaught of filth. Unbeknownst to his fellow students, one member of Emmanuel College has been leading a shadowy double life. By day, he reads in the library, but by night, he is a vigilante on a crusade against teenage drinking. Emma has had to clean up its act, after this champion of the sober life led an attack on the den of sin that is Emma Bar. For years, alcoholic poison has flowed through the veins of this wildly debauched college, but no more! No longer will the heads of undergraduates ache in the morning, no longer will the pool table be soaked and stained by intoxicating liquor. The agent of purity responsible for this reformation of student life told ROAR the following in an exclusive interview. "I've long been disgusted by the anarchic revelry caused by the consumption of impure liquids", commented this beacon of ascetic light, "and it's about time something was done about it!" He added that he hoped he would have a "lasting effect of purification on the communal liver of Emmanuel college". Will Emma clean up its drunken act? Will the bar's top-selling drink become a fresh fruit smoothie? ROAR certainly hopes so!

ECSU PRES(ident)

Sources have confirmed that early in the evening on Tuesday 17th January 2016 President KC was seen drinking a glass of whine. Of the red variety. At a social occasion. In the master's lodge. Whilst on presidential duties.
