

ROAR SAVES THE WORLD

In what's being hailed as the greatest scientific discovery since gravitational waves, Natscis have been stunned to find out that the executive ECSU decision to go green and print fewer ROAR copies has actually solved global warming. Most have been delighted by the news, but some fear that, at this rate, ROAR could contribute to global cooling and bring about a new ice age within the next six years. Geographer Charlie Whitehead said "It's unbelievable. It goes against all climate change research. I just don't understand". Never underestimate the power of ROAR, Charlie.

MADAM MIDDELL

CONCERNED READER:

Dear Madam Middell, I have something to confess. I want to make it official. In ROAR. I am in love with a Porter. There we go, I've said it. My quibble of the week is that I think it's time I took the relationship a step further and asked him on a date. But what type of date does a porter like?

MADAM MIDDELL:

Oooh darling what a Valentines Day conundrum. I've always rather fancied myself as a bit of a Cupid. Well what I suggest for you is an athletic trampolining session à deux. You know the sort, indoor trampolining for adults – fun fun fun. Then a cheeky Nandos après perhaps and if things are going really well I'd suggest a you hit up Lolas together- I've heard the outdoor smoking area is where all long lasting romances blossom. If things are going really well don't forget he'll have to sign in any overnight visitors. Lots of love and luck, let me know how it goes xx

Charlie Mercer

DJ Daily Basic perfects the art of never letting go. "He's sent in 47 applications", says an exasperated Kavish Shah. "Move on, Charlie."

Molly Llewellyn-Smith

"I'm a vet and I know it. This summer, I was shat on by a cow (a few times; you get used to it.) I am a scrabble champion with a penchant for Southern Comfort and I love shakin' it in da club. My disinterests are straight men and dairy products." - MLS 2013

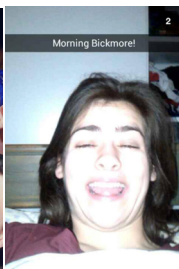

Fetty Wap

"Really honoured even to be considered for the role. I realize it's a huge responsibility, and I'm really excited to make a difference to Freshers' Week 2016!"

Jake Reynolds

Following a sell-out tour in 2015, Jake Reynolds is back again for his comeback tour 'Frep 'til you drep!' Never without a smile, at least Jake is happy about the new Frep lineup!
